

Community Services Co-ordinator, Health Promotion

- Community-based organisation
- Excellent team and working environment
- Generous salary packaging benefits

About us

Cancer Council Queensland is dedicated to improving cancer control within the State so that all Queenslanders have the best possible prospects of preventing, detecting, and surviving a cancer diagnosis. We do this through investing in research, support services and education programs that are creating hope for a cancer free future.

About the role

Do you want to make a difference? Use your health promotion knowledge and skills to work with our team to make a direct impact on reducing the burden of cancer in Queensland.

Working with relevant communities and organisations, you will co-ordinate and deliver Cancer Council Queensland health promotion programs which aim to enhance community awareness and education about cancer control.

You will also provide guidance, support and resources to regional offices on the implementation of evidence-based, high quality health promotion activities in regional localities.

This position is a two year contract with the possibility of extension, based on performance and funding.

About you

To be successful, you must have at least three years' experience working in a community-focused role with qualifications in health promotion, health science, public health or related field.

In addition, you will have outstanding interpersonal and communication skills and the ability to facilitate groups and provide training in individual and group settings. Previous experience in health promotion program development and co-ordination is essential.

Benefits

Cancer Council Queensland is a growing community-based organisation, which offers staff flexible work arrangements, salary packaging opportunities, numerous staff discounts, and a supportive team environment where healthy lifestyle balance is encouraged.
