

Academy Alive Quran Alive Demonstration Day

On Sunday the 15th of September, Academy Alive had their Quran Alive Demonstration Day, showcasing their Quran Alive course for 2020 intakes. There was a live Quran Translation demonstration, a student story and homemade food by the students themselves.

All students were encouraged to participate in the 5-step process in translating the Quran.

What is Quran Alive?

Quran Alive allows students to fully master the foundations of the Arabic language, which is made up of two vital components, Nahwu (etymology) & Sarf (morphology)

Quran Alive has built a system has been developed by Australian Born Scholars led by Sheikh Ikraam Buksh to allow Non-Arabic speaking backgrounds the ability to connect to the Kalam of Allah Subhanahu Wa Ta'ala directly in Arabic.

Quran Alive allows students to study the Arabic language from three critical angles, vocabulary, essential theory and practical application. A system that has been proven & tested amongst hundreds of students Australia wide and internationally focuses on the skills of sight which allow students to practically apply grammatical laws.

With 11 years of experience, the Academy Alive scholars have continuously developed their course publications and materials, developing course textbooks to complement their course curriculum. These include grammatical Nahwu Textbook (Etymology) Sarf (Morphology) and a Quran Alive Quran translation workbook.

The Nahwu textbook is a precise textbook on etymology, focusing only on essential rules and building blocks to allow students to feel comfortable with Quranic Arabic.

The Sarf Textbook. A three-volume Morphology Textbook with an emphasis of theory before practicality, allows students to navigate themselves around an otherwise confusing subject comfortably.

Academy Alive's Quran exercise books is a customised workbook which allows ample space for the breakdown of grammatical analysis of the Quran to be worked out. It has been developed to aid students in critical learning areas to enable the ease of transition into the Quran translation and grammatical analysis.

Quran Alive's overall goal is an all-out approach to student engagement and experience is part of our core organisational belief.

"We believe all souls should experience the eloquence of the Quran, and everyone has the chance to communicate with Allah Subhanahu Wa Ta'ala directly in Arabic."
